Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claims 2-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. Regarding claim 2, on page 25, in line 7-10, "creation of intermediate data structures from the extracted source code" which is not described in the specification. Claims 3-15 depend on claim 2, therefore claims 3-15 are rejected as well.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 16-34 are allowed over prior art.
4. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: Although the cited art of Christen teaches providing trace information to a trace handler associated with user executable micro-code before micro-code is executed, St-Hilaire teaches setting up circuits automatically in an ATM network that includes multiple communication handlers and one of which being a trace handler for monitoring event traces. But the combined art fails to teach sending events that satisfy trace conditions to a trace handler, wherein the trace handler executes a second kind of operation, but not the first kind of operation.
